

Wikipedia R. Sentana-Ries autobiography

Mr. Reni Sentana-Ries was born on May 26, 1943, at Neumuenster, Germany in the Province of Schleswig-Holstein, Germany.

After attending middle school and an apprenticeship as draftsman in the field of mechanical engineering he emigrated to Alberta in Canada in 1963 to join his brother and his wife who had arrived in Calgary 10 years earlier. In Alberta he worked as Engineering Technician for another 35 years in the disciplines of mechanical, civil, structural, and piping technology.

Initially he was religiously inclined, attended a Bible School conducted by the German Church of God, Edmonton, Canada in Edmonton in 1964 which lasted for 3 years.

He got married, raised 4 children out of his first marriage, became divorced in 1993, and re-married in October 1994. The joining of this like-minded couple sent them on a unique journey of exploring possibilities arising from his wife Seila's keen telepathic ability of contact with extraterrestrial captains, commanders and masters who freely began sharing information pertaining to all areas of anthropology, including some politically controversial material which placed them within the cross-hair of so-called "national security" agencies and anti-hate advocates for making information available to the public which some think they have an exclusive right-of-access to.

In January of 1995 they moved to Tempe, Arizona, hoping that a publisher could be found for their first set of five short books called the "Article of Faith" series. The experiment failed – or was made to fail - and two years later they were forced to return back to Canada. By that time Mr. Sentana-Ries had lost his connection to the engineering industry which forced him to seek alternative income.

A heavy presence on internet began upon their return as they placed articles, scribings, and books on the net for the public to read. The nature of some of the postings was thought by some to run in conflict with Canada's anti-hate laws, and as a consequence from a prosecution against Mr. Sentana-Ries he was given a guilty verdict by a jury, and a judge convicted him to 16 months incarceration of which he served five. The sentence on him included a three year ban from the internet which ended on the last day of December, 2010.

After a move to Ryley, Alberta, in summer of 2008 and in keeping with his ban from the internet, Mr. Sentana-Ries and his (now divorced) wife Seila returned in 2011 back on the net for the purpose of sharing with the people their own material in the form of articles and books, as well as many contributions of scribed texts from starship captains and commanders of the Federated Union of Starships. The website they operate under the URL of freeearthssystem.net is called The Federation of Free Planets which is primarily a links page for the locations of their articles and books but also explains what their site is all about.

The content of the publicly posted material contains no longer elements which set Mr. Sentana-Ries on a collision course with Canadian anti-hate Laws.

Mr. Sentana-Ries's association with organized religion ended in 1993 when information came to him stating that All religions are flawed from lack of reality, and that people as individuals must become reconnected to the reality which exists throughout the universe in which we conclude that we are all interconnected and in need to form a oneness in righteousness, understanding, and truth.

Although retired since May 2008 he is Editor to a string of books scribed by Uthrania Seila Sentana-Ries-Cortez, of which most were offered to the public on amazon.com as kindle e-books or available for free at http://scribd.com/rsentana_ries , however some of their works have been removed from both locations in March 2015.

His current website which is more or less a links page to all articles and books he and his former wife Uthrania Seila Sentana-Ries-Cortez have published together. The real purpose of this site remains somewhat of a mystery to the public as the site has been since the beginning of 2012 labeled "Site Construction Temporarily Halted."

The only book from his own pen is called "The Epitaph of Finance" and is available for free at the Internet Archive site "<http://www.archive.org/details/TheEpitaphOfFinance.>"

He now lives in retirement in Alberta, Canada.
